

For our team at the Institute for Leadership and Human Resources Management at the University of St.Gallen (I.FPM) we are looking for a colleague for research and practical work on the topics of leadership, engagement and new work or artificial intelligence in innovative work contexts for a post-doctoral position of several years. At the Institute, these topics are linked to the construct of leadership, which is changing rapidly in the age of digital change and new forms of work and enterprise.

We offer you:

- Opportunity for challenging scientific work in an interdisciplinary team
- Presentation of your research at international conferences
- Working with companies on trend topics in the area of Leadership & New Work
- Opportunities to teach in university and practice-related programs (Bachelor-, Master- or executive programs)

What you will need:

- (Forthcoming) doctorate in Leadership, Organizational Behavior or Work and Organizational Psychology
- Excellence in quantitative research methods
- Potential to publish in international journals
- Enjoying research and teaching in an interdisciplinary team

We look forward to receiving your application (with cover letter, curriculum vitae and relevant certificates as well as an article representative of your research qualities) by e-mail:
